

Back to basics, back to nature

This isn't a new trend, but it's gaining ground every year. An increasing number of holidaymakers are keen to get back to nature. And it was with the aim of being at the forefront of this trend that we came up with the new design for Coco.

Coco, in harmony

This is one of the greatest strengths of the new Coco. It blends respectfully and harmoniously into its environment without deteriorating your plots, bringing an attractive new dimension to your bare pitches.

A lodge tent feel

With its crisp, clean lines and bold colours, Coco's design celebrates simplicity and revives the spirit of the lodge tent, with an added French twist.

Its appearance is certainly original, with its chic liquorice-coloured or vanilla canvas, to adapt to different tastes, double glazed doors and slanting protective awning built-in.

There's no denying the fact that the move back to nature, to simplicity – to sobriety even – is a strong trend right now. But holidaymakers still have their demands. Over the years, there has been a shift upmarket and they've become used to a certain level of comfort. With its practical furniture, soothing colours, smart storage solutions and quality bedding, the inside of Coco provides holidaymakers with everything they now expect. With natural charm and a restful atmosphere as a bonus.

Inside Coco, you'll find all the equipment and comforts of a mobile home... but with the feel of a tent!
